

Café Race

It's time for a coffee break and the race is on! How fast can you get back down the stairs from the coffee machine? Without spilling your coffee, that is!

Café Race is a fast-playing, dice-based race game where players bid for how fast they want to go. The faster they go, the easier it is to 'spill' their coffee. Getting to the finish first may not be enough to win the game – having the most coffee left in their cup also matters.

This is a neat, quick family game and also makes a fun filler for gamers as it has some tactical subtleties. The box contains a small board, 14 dice, 6 card playing pieces with stands and 36 card coffee tokens. It was designed by Francisco Gareia and published (in Catalan, Spanish, English, French and German) by Homoludicus in Barcelona.
