Colors

A two-player abstract strategy game, Colors is a light-hearted ten-minute game between two beginners, but becomes a 40-minute intellectual tussle when played by two 'Grandmasters'.

Each player has 12 pieces, 3 of each primary colour. These pieces are moved around a diamond shaped board made up of triangles, and there is no luck involved. (The game is environmentally friendly, too.)

You take your opponent's pieces by creating triangles of the 3 primary colours – taking 1 piece if using two of your pieces to complete the triangle, or 2 opposing pieces if you make a triangle using only one of your pieces (the elusive "Double Take").

Experienced players can combine mini-strategies to win the game – The Wall, The Blitz, The Raid, the Single take, the Double Take. There is lots to think about.

Despite this the game has just a single page of rules – nothing more to it than that.
