

THE GODS BATTLE FOR MEN'S SOULS...

THE BOARD GAME OF DIVINE DOMINATION

Tornadoes. Tsunamis. Plagues. Natural disasters? Or signs of gods' wrath?

The earthly and divine realms meet in Playing Gods: The Board Game of Divine Domination. Whether wreaking disasters of biblical proportions on innocent populations or bestowing providence and goodwill, the gods have ever made sport of humans. Though possessing amazing powers, the gods are jealous.

Players compete to take over the world and make everyone on Earth worship him or her. As a god, gain converts by promising them Afterlife, Prosperity, and Miracles. Or kill off other gods' followers with plagues, locusts, avalanches, floods, and other natural disasters. Players can be figures from one of the world's major religions, or they may choose to be any god from Cthulu to Zeus, from the Cult of Oprah to The Almighty Dollar. They can even create their own gods—or be a god! Though the theme includes religious battles, Playing Gods is really a satire with an underlying message of peace, encouraging people to think about the tragedy of killing others just because they have different beliefs.

The god with the best strategy, skill, and luck shall rule the world....
